The Honorable L. Louise Lucas, Chairwoman of the Brown v. Board of Education Scholarship Committee, today announced the availability of applications for the 2014-2015 academic year. The Brown Scholarship Program was established by the Virginia General Assembly in 2004 to assist persons who were denied a public education in the localities of Arlington, Charlottesville, Norfolk, Prince Edward County, and Warren County due to the closing of public schools in Virginia to avoid desegregation during Massive Resistance between 1954 and 1964. Eligible persons may live in any Virginia locality; however, they must be current domiciled residents of the Commonwealth of Virginia and must have been students in one of the named school divisions during Massive Resistance. The scholarship program is available to all eligible Virginians without regard to gender or race. Scholarships may be used to cover the costs of tuition, fees, and textbooks at accredited Virginia schools and two-year and four-year public and private institutions of higher education, and nonprofit career and technical schools, as approved by the Committee. Eligible persons may use the scholarship for:

- Transitional education programs to prepare for success in GED and adult education programs
- GED certificate
- Adult high school diploma
- College Level Examination Program (CLEP) credit
- Career-technical skills training at public two-year colleges or nonprofit career and technical schools
- Two-year or four-year undergraduate degree programs at accredited Virginia public and private institutions, part-time or full-time
- Master's, doctoral, and professional degree programs, as approved by the Committee

Application Deadline: March 1, 2014

Applications and the Committee's policies may be downloaded at: <http://dls.virginia.gov/commissions/bbe.htm> and are available upon request by contacting
